John Heinrich Signs Contract as CPS Hoop Coach and Assistant Professor

The athletic stock on the College of Puget Sound exchange went up several hundred points this winter when Dr. Thompson announced the signing of Coach John Heinrich as a permanent member of the athletic staff of the college.

Everyone and anyone knows Johnny Heinrich in Tacoma. He has been top man in high school sports around this neck of the woods for the past 10 years. His first connection with the college was as a fill in basketball coach last year when a few of the early returned veterans got together and wanted to play basketball. Puget Sound rejoined the old Northwest Conference and Johnny coached the boys into third place.

Starting next fall, however, it is no longer "Temporary Coach Heinrich," but as regular basketball coach, and a possibility that he may handle baseball if the sport makes a good comeback in the conference this spring.

Frank Patrick will continue as athletic director and head football coach.

Coach Heinrich said that for the next few years anyway his football activities are going to be limited to officiating only. With the completion of this year's football season at Stadium High, Johnny finished his twentieth year coaching football, his twelfth at Stadium, and as usual ended the year undefeated and on top of the Cross-state league as well as the local city league.

Both President Thompson and Director Frank Patrick have expressed beliefs that Coach Heinrich will be a great asset to the proposed expansion of athletics here at the Logger stronghold. Last year the ball players came; this year the coaching staff was completed, the only thing lacking now are the facilities. They are coming?

Hoop Squad Has Successful Season

Off to a slow start, the Logger basketball juggernaut gained momentum as the season went on, and at this writing are tied for the lead in the Northwest Conference.

It was a slow start this season if one can call dropping games to Montana, WSC, Gonzaga and Washington on successive nights a slow start. It was an ambitious pre-season schedule attempted by Athletic Director Patrick and Coach Heinrich, but losses or no losses it paid dividends. The hoop squad impressed the big school mentors in every case, and games with better dates are in order for next season.

After the road trip into Montana and Eastern Washington, another eastern trip was taken to open the conference race. The Loggers, dog-tired from the first trip, dropped three of the four road

Missing the championship by one game, a dejected band of Loggers returned from their invasion of Canada tied for second in the Northwest Conference standings. CPS split the two game series with UBC, which knocked both the Thunderbirds and CPS out of the tie for top position. This leaves College of Idaho and Linfield riding the crest.

The CPS hoopsters took the first game in an easy way, but on the following night a sharpshooting band of Canadians came back to down the Loggers in an equally easy fashion.

Loggers win and loss record in the conference for the season was nine wins and five losses. For the season it was 14-10 with one game with PLC remaining. (CPS 45, PLC 41).

games. Two to College of Idaho, one in an overtime, and split a series with Whitman. So the Loggers started their conference schedule at the bottom of the heap.

The Linfield wildcats came to Tacoma next. The Loggers managed a split with the sharpshooters from McMinnville. The first game played in the CPS gym was the thriller of the year. The Loggers eked out a 72-71 win, after a 17 point deficit at the half. The team was led by the inspired playing of Bill Stivers, who, it seemed, single-handed closed the gap. Ron Button, huge CPS center, was top man for the night with 23 points. The next evening things were different. Linfield couldn't miss, and won easily.

Since that series the Loggers haven't been defeated in conference play, taking Willamette, Lewis and Clark, Pacific into camp. UBC remains on the schedule.

WHIZ KID

Bill Stivers, "whiz kid" from Illinois, who has invaded the Northwest Conference gyms this year under the Logger colors, and impressed both fans and coaches with his dazzling brand of ball.

The Lutherans from Parkland, Washington, have had a rough time with the Loggers this year, also. CPS has managed to pulverize them three times in a row to cinch the mythical city crown. One more game with PLC remains.

Coach Heinrich was greeted early in October by approximately 60 hopeful candidates, and by the end of October had it whittled down to 25. The rest that stuck were taken over by Tom Cross who coached the Junior Varsity squad. From the 25 original members it was gradually shaved to 15 and a squad of 13 comprised the traveling squad.

The so-called "diamond in the rough" of the season turned out to be Bill Stivers who unexpectedly dropped in on Puget Sound from Illinois; liked the country, so entered school, and has turned out to be the classiest ball player to trod the CPS maples in many a year. Bobby Fincham, last year's high scorer, was hurt early in the season, became a papa and a few other things, and hasn't been up to his usual form all year, but nevertheless has been an important floorman for the Heinrich organization.

Ron Button, tall center, cast a longing eye at WSC, but finally decided to stay at CPS, and although a Frosh has handled one of the forward spots like a veteran, improving every game. Al Danielson, letterman from years gone by, by virtue of his rugged backboard play stepped into the center spot. Ed Huntington, a Frosh from Lincoln and the U. S. Navy, usually starts at the guard position, but in the last few games has given way to high scoring Len "Jeep" Sawyer, the mighty mite from Puyallup.

The rest of the squad was made up of Don Hoff, tall lad from Astoria, Ore. Bob Rinker, 6-7 skyscraper from Stadium and U. S. Army, Bob Angeline, from Stadium, Bill Richey, another 6-7 boy from Clover Park High, Hal "Lil Abner" Wolf, the rough and ready boy from Yelm, Washington, and Dick Salatino, a local speedster.

Music Department Plans Spring Concerts

Pictured above is the newly formed College of Puget Sound symphony orchestra, which is preparing for its first annual Spring Festival Concert to be given May 23rd in Jones Hall. The orchestra is a community affair and consists of 66 pieces, 38 of which are students of the college. It is under the direction of Professor Raymond Vaught of the music department.

This Spring Festival concert is to be a part of the Commencement Week festivities, and is to be a regular part of the Week in years to come.

There are to be two concerts, one in the afternoon, which will feature small chamber groups within the orchestra presenting selections of modern composers. The second concert given the evening of

May 23rd will feature Gordon Epperson, cellist and member of the CPS faculty, as soloist.

The big event at hand in the music department, however, is the extended tour the Adelphians begin on March 14th. Professor Clyde H. Keutzer will take the choir on a 10-day tour through Eastern Washington and Idaho, giving the first concert in Ellensburg on the 14th, and making a complete circuit, giving the last concert in Everett on March 23rd. The Adelphians will give one concert a day, and in some cases will present two. Alumni in the following cities watch for the announcement of their coming: Ellensburg, Sunnyside, Pasco, Dayton, Yakima, Walla Walla, Lewiston, Idaho, Spokane and Ritzville.

Featured soloists on the trip will be, Harley Stell, tenor, Anita Stebbins, Irene Learne, Elizabeth Anderberg and Ruth Gustafson, violinist.

Another tour is planned as soon as they return from the one above. This one is to be through the Grays Harbor area during spring vacation.

The Adelphians will give their home concert in Jones Hall on March 27th. All Alumni are cordially invited.

Mary Agnes Gallagher is president of the Adelphians this season. Harley Stell holds the position of music manager for the entire music department, and Irene Fearn handles the purse strings and bank account for the choir. There are 35 members of the organization this year.

Dr. Powell Announces 1947 Summer School

Raymond L. Powell
Director of Summer Session

Summer Session To Open June 16

In the 32nd annual session of the 10-week summer school which opens June 16, the College of Puget Sound is offering an approximate third semester in the regular college calendar. Nearly every department represented in the regular school year will offer both first year and advanced courses for the summer semester. Dr. Raymond L. Powell, Dean of Summer School again this year, has planned the curricula in such a way that it will benefit not only the teacher returning to school for additional training, but the student, GI or non-GI, that wishes to begin or continue his college education. Most courses are planned for the full 10 weeks, but few can be taken for five weeks, either half.

The summer school is to be entirely staffed by the faculty of the college. Every department head is to teach this summer, a situation that occurs very seldom. Dr. Marvin Schafer will present courses in advanced sociology after several summers of field work. Dr. Charles Battin, after several summers absence, will offer courses in Business Administration and Economics.

The most diversified program ever attempted in summer school is to be offered by the music department. Courses in Public School Methods, Theory, History and Appreciation and private lessons in voice, piano and any type of instrument will be available to the music minded. Professor Keutzer, the head of the music department, and his entire staff, will remain on the campus this summer to present this program.

To obtain further information concerning the summer session write to the Registrar here at the College of Puget Sound.

It is advisable to apply for entrance soon, as last year's enrollment of 550 students is expected to be topped. The same admission requirements are in effect for the summer as for the regular school year. Credit is also given on the same basis as the fall and spring semesters.

Oratory Champ

Yvonne Battin, freshman, returned from the three-day debate tournament at Linfield College in McMinnville, Ore., with the first place award in senior women's oratory. This makes Miss Battin the unofficial champion of the coast as she took first place in the junior women's division in a earlier tournament in California with practically the same schools competing.

As it turned out this first place cup was the only one acquired by Dr. Battin's debate team this year. One women's team and four men's teams managed to make the finals in debate, but failed to get through the series to qualify them for an award.

Arthur Gravatt placed fourth in the Speech of Occasion division.

Boogie Woogie Invades Campus

An added feature of the music department this year is the Workshop Dance Band under the direction of LeRoy Ostransky, a student of the college. This band bothers with nothing but jazz and original compositions and arrangements.

The band has already put on one program for the students which was well received, and their big event of the year will be the concert to be given May 2nd. At that time they will play only original compositions of their own. The band consists of 18 pieces, all of whom are members of the class in arrangement offered by the music department this year.

The lid flew off before the third and deciding PLC-CPS basketball game. A brief flare of the old pre-war rivalry gripped the two campuses. Costly paint was splattered indiscriminately about the place. Initials were burned in lawns. The Loggers' yell queen was kidnapped.

As a result a good portion of the CPS student body congregated on the PLC campus the night before the game and disposed of some old Christmas trees by means of fire, and just generally raised a little havoc.

CPS trounced the Lutes the following night to take the city crown.

The next day committees from both schools met to see that this friendly rivalry didn't get out of hand. A few shiners around the campus hastened the meetings of this reparations committee.

An added note: The two teams had been playing to practically empty houses the previous two games. The scuffle on the two campuses hit the front page of one of the Tacoma papers, and the Armory was jammed the following night for the ball game.

ELECTION ANNOUNCEMENT OF ALUMNI TRUSTEES AND BOARD OF DIRECTORS

In keeping with the Constitution and By-laws of the Alumni Association, each year a third of the members of the Alumni Board of Trustees and a third of the Alumni representatives to the College Board of Trustees come up for election. The election this year will be at the usual Commencement time but will be complicated by the fact that four war years have gone by during which no elections were held. The present members of the Board and representatives of the College Board of Trustees have held over according to constitutional practice and have served additional terms. Our thanks go to them for carrying on for this additional time. Since the terms of all the members of the Alumni board have actually expired, it is contemplated that we will be electing at this year's Commencement election the total membership of the Board, consisting of 15 members. In order that in subsequent years only a third of the members will come up for election, five of those elected this spring will serve a one year term; five of them a two year term; and five a three year term.

The most vital Alumni organization will depend on as broad a representation as possible, remembering that classes from 1946 back to 1898 should all be considered. We must not expect the same few loyal alumni to continue to serve as Board members time after time only because they are willing to do the work and accept the responsibility. On the other hand, there are many alumni who would serve equally as loyally if we knew who they were — so think of the alumni of your acquaintance who would make good board directors to handle the work of your association and push it forward in the coming years. Recommend them by mail or telephone to the alumni office so that they may be considered by the nominating committee when it meets to determine nominations for the ballot.

In the case of the Alumni representatives to the Board of Trustees, we have felt that a different procedure was in order. Inasmuch as the work of the College Board of Trustees has gone on as usual during the war years, it seemed advisable to elect this year only the two members who would be ordinarily elected. Consequently, as alumni, we have the responsibility this spring to elect two members of the Association to represent it on the College Board of Trustees. These positions carry with them considerable responsibility for the carrying on of the College business as well, of course, as being the channel through which alumni can make their wishes and suggestions known regarding the College's policies and development. Again may we urge you to let us know possible candidates for these positions. The College is experiencing a period of rapid growth and development. The Alumni Association through its Board of Directors and its representatives to the College Board of Trustees has an important position of leadership in the forming of the College's educational and business policies.

Ballots will be enclosed in the Commencement issue of the Alumnus which will reach you in May. As an alumnus of the College of Puget Sound you are entitled and have a responsibility to vote for the people you wish to have representing you on both of these governing bodies.

Spring Semester Breaks Top Enroll

Although a considerable number of students finished their work for graduation or left school for jobs at the end of the fall semester, a bumper crop of new students swelled enrollment figures to 1,564, an all-time high. This figure is 69 higher than the fall enrollment.

Veterans entering on the "G. I." bill again made up the bulk of the 286 new registrants. A breakdown of the 1,564 total shows 953 veterans and 611 non-veterans. Women still have open season on males, there being only 419 women as against 1,145 men. The freshman class, of course, far overshadows the three upper classes in numbers of students having a membership of 792.

Careful studies of the critical college enrollment problem all seem to point to at least two or three or more years of abnormally large college populations. John Dale Russell, Director of the Division of Higher Education for the United States Office of Education states that the crucial period will really come in the autumns of 1947 and 1948. Mr. Russell has stated the problem very concisely in the following paragraph.

"When the present enormous freshman class moves up to the sophomore level,

h Spring Semester. Both Sides of
be Landscaped

All Records ment Not Yet Reached

and another equally large or even larger freshman class moves in with relatively few seniors graduating to make more room available, the facilities of the institutions of higher education are going to be more crowded than they were this past fall. Within two years the present freshman class will have moved into upper division work in the various departments and professional schools; at that level they can no longer be served by junior colleges or by most of the emergency institutions that have been caring for so many of them during 1946-47. Thus, by autumn of 1948, the strain will begin to be felt most severely on the instructional facilities, equipment, and faculty members for the more advanced levels of study, though the pressure — by reason of numbers in the lower division — will remain high and even continue to increase."

In conclusion, Mr. Russell states, "privately controlled institutions may proceed with great confidence to seek resources for expanding their facilities, in the knowledge that "overbuilding" is probably impossible for any institution with a program and a location that enables it to serve effectively a large constituency."

President's Greeting

It is always a genuine joy to greet the Alumni of the College of Puget Sound. The fine records made by our graduates are a constant inspiration to those of us on the Campus to ever strive for a better Alma Mater.

As one travels across the country one discovers College of Puget Sound Alumni in key positions everywhere. They have been uniquely trained to face the responsibilities of these days. With a depth of character which gives stability they also possess a progressive viewpoint which yields excellent development.

I wish it were possible for each of you to return now and see our 1500 students, our excellent faculty, the new construction on the boy's dormitory and auxiliary classroom buildings, the landscaping in progress, and the general development everywhere in evidence.

We sincerely hope you will come often to the Campus and it will be our pleasure to welcome you again to your Alma Mater.

Patrick Schedules University Idaho, San Jose For 1947

The Logger is swinging with a big ax in the sporting world these days. University of Idaho and San Jose State are both signed sealed and delivered on the CPS football schedule for next fall.

Idaho game is to be played in Moscow, Idaho, on September 20. All you grads in that part of the country remember that date and plan to be there, because Coach Patrick is planning on one whale of a club next fall.

1947 Football Schedule

Sept. 20 University of Idaho at Moscow
Sept. 27 Pacific Lutheran at Tacoma
Oct. 4 British Columbia at Vancouver
Oct. 11 San Jose State at Tacoma
Oct. 18 Whitman at Walla Walla
Oct. 25 Willamette at Tacoma
(Homecoming)
Nov. 1 Open
Nov. 8 Western Washington at Tacoma
Nov. 15 Pacific at Forest Grove
Nov. 22 Linfield at Tacoma

San Jose State, the strongest small college on the coast this past season winning the Raisin Bowl from Utah, travels to Tacoma on October 11, so all the home town will get a chance to see the 1947 edition of the Loggers in what should be one of the biggest intersectional games ever put on in Tacoma.

The 1947 football schedule as it is so far is printed elsewhere in this issue. Mark those home dates, and if you are an out-of-towner, see that one closest to your home.

Inspiration

Jimmy Rice, pictured above in his B-17 chauffeurs uniform was chosen by the 1946 football squad as their inspirational leader for the past year. Jimmy played a lot of guard for the ball squad, and was elected honorary captain of the squad along with Warren Greedy.

Rice is a junior from Tacoma, and Bud Greedy is a sophomore from Kirkland.

CPS Divot Diggers Ready For Opener On Fircrest Course

With springtime comes the birds singing and the golfers swinging and cursing. The divot diggers are preparing for a great season here on the campus for the first time since 1941.

The golfers are entering intercollegiate competition with a vigor this spring contemplating a great team which should include such local greats as Lew Staples and Jack Wilson, who will be pushed plenty by Les Stephens, a sub-par boy from Portland, Freddie Campbell, from Cleveland, Ohio, and Toney Shelton from down California way.

Fircrest golf club has kindly consented to let the Loggers use their tough layout as home course, which will be a mean test for any competition, which will include this year besides the regular conference teams, Washington, University of Portland and possibly Oregon State.

Tennis Team Preparing To Defend Title

Tildens and Budes may have paraded on other campuses, but the Hesselwoods, Nauberts and Cavanaugh's are wielding the rackets on the CPS tennis courts with a vim, preparing for the rugged schedule Coach Patrick has lined up for them this year.

The Logger racketeers walked off with the conference championships last year, and the team had little time for actual organization. This year, with things being a little different, the boys are looking forward to another successful season.

Jess Curtwright, last years number one man, has left school, but his shoes are expected to be more than filled by Wally Cavanaugh, local ace, who entered school last fall. Don "Budge" Hesselwood, Jerry Naubert, Kirk Stewart and Bobby Fincham are all expected back.

Lyle Morton, former Logger ace, has been signed as coach of the tennis squad. This was announced by Frank Patrick, Athletic Director, just before the ALUMNUS went to press.

"Water Loggers" First Season Big Success

For the first time in the history of Logger athletics, the sports department has come through with a varisty swimming team. Using the Stadium High school pool as their home bay, the "water loggers" have done right well for their alma mater for a beginning year. At press time they boast five wins and one loss. That one loss to the powerful University of Washington splash team.

The team is coached by Wally Streeter, Stadium High swimming coach, who is filling in until CPS can acquire facilities and a coach of their own. Joe Boyle, former State champion in high school, is captain of the squad. Don Thornhill, ace diver, has proven to be the main point getter of the team, garnering a first in every meet, which included a decisive win over the representative from Washington.

There is one meet left on the docket with University of British Columbia in Vancouver, and the grand finale, an invitation which was accepted readily, to the Nationals to be held at the University of Washington the latter part of March.
